Message from the headteacher

We enjoyed another visit from the RSPCA on Wednesday. This time, children in all classes learned about how to keep animals safe during celebrations like Bonfire Night. Everyone made their own 'firework' containing their pledge to do their bit. We're grateful to the RSPCA for continuing to support our wider learning opportunities and we are hoping to see them again in March.

A reminder that poppies and other Royal British Legion items are available every morning and afternoon on the playground. We will of course be marking Remembrance Day on Tuesday with an assembly and a whole school 2 minutes' silence.

Finally, we were saddened to hear of the death of Gay Harrison this week. Children and staff alike will remember how generously she gave her time for so many years, volunteering in class and listening to readers, supporting school productions and concerts. She will be missed by so many in the school and village community. We send our love and best wishes to her family.
